

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Dealing with the Stress at Work

Learning Outcome

Identify and describe events in the news in a range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- How many hours a night do you sleep?
- What do you do in your hours away from school or your job to relax?

Can Do Statements

- I can start and end a conversation on the phone.
- I can talk about staying healthy.
- I can give advice and talk about cause and effect.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa and Mr. Curtis talk in the evening and will connect again tomorrow.

* When people "connect", they get in touch with each other either on the phone or in person.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Mr. Curtis: Hello, Vanessa.
Vanessa: Hello, Mr. Curtis. Nice to hear from you.
Mr. Curtis: How are you doing?
Vanessa: I'm hanging in there. The dinner crowd is thinning out now. I'm a little flustered today because I've been on the phone so much with different people on top of managing the staff.
Mr. Curtis: And here you are with another phone call, but that's all part of the job of a manager. We don't have to talk long. When I keep conversations short, employees can get back to work more quickly!
Vanessa: Yes, that's true.
Mr. Curtis: Make sure you get some rest in your off-hours to stay healthy. If you are stressed all the time, you burn out eventually.
Vanessa: If we could have the hostess answer all the phone calls, that would help me focus on my job. I'll try that out.
Mr. Curtis: In the meantime, don't give up. Are you closing up soon?
Vanessa: Yes. There are a few customers hanging around, but I'm shutting down the cash register.
Mr. Curtis: Sounds good. If you wrap up soon, you'll get to bed earlier.
Vanessa: That's true. If I sleep in tomorrow, I'll be fresh for the evening shift.
Mr. Curtis: OK. Take care, Vanessa. We'll connect tomorrow.
Vanessa: Right. Thanks for calling, Mr. Curtis.
Mr. Curtis: Have a good night.
Vanessa: You too, sir.

Let's Practice!

It's nice to connect on the phone.

Instructions: Read the statement. Mark all the correct answers. Practice saying the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. Read each phrase. Select all the phrases that you use at the beginning of a phone conversation.
 - ☐ How are you doing?
 - ☐ I understand.
 - ☐ Nice to hear from you.
 - ☐ Hello, Mr. Curtis.
 - ☐ I'll try that out.
2. Read each phrase. Select all the phrases that you use at the end of a phone conversation.
 - ☐ Have a good night.
 - ☐ That's true.
 - ☐ Take care, Vanessa.
 - ☐ Sounds good.
 - ☐ Thanks for calling.

Let's Practice!

How you feel depends on what you do now.

Instructions: Match the sentence parts from Column A and Column B.

COLUMN A

1. If I keep it short
2. If you wrap up soon
3. If I sleep in tomorrow
4. If you are stressed all the time

COLUMN B

- a. you'll get to bed earlier.
- b. I'll be fresh for the evening shift.
- c. I can get back to work more quickly.
- d. you burn out eventually.

Extension Activity

Write a phone dialogue between a restaurant manager and the owner.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write a dialogue between a restaurant manager and the restaurant owner. You are the manager.
- Use proper greetings at the beginning and the end of the phone conversation.
- Talk about how stressful the job has been.
- Give advice about how to stay healthy.
- Use some of the phrasal verbs you have learned in this lesson.
- Practice the dialogue several times with a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I write a phone dialogue.

☐ ☐

I use proper expressions at the beginning and the end of a conversation.

☐ ☐

I talk about stress and demands at work.

☐ ☐

I give advice for staying healthy.

☐ ☐

I practice speaking.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to thin out (verb): to gradually decrease in number e.g. It's late, so the dinner crowd is thinning out in the restaurant.
- to hang in there (expression): to try hard to continue e.g. It's been a busy and stressful day, but I'm hanging in there.
- on top of (expression): in addition to e.g. I've been on the phone a lot on top of managing the staff.
- to keep up (verb): to continue in the same pattern
e.g. If you keep up the stress, you burn out eventually.
- off-hours (noun): the hours away from work
e.g. Make sure you get some rest in your off-hours to stay healthy.
- to hang around (verb): to spend time in a place in a relaxed manner
e.g. There are a few customers still hanging around in the restaurant.
- to sleep in (verb): to sleep longer than usual
e.g. If I sleep in tomorrow, I'll be fresh for the evening shift.

Learning Points

Phrasal Verbs

There are various phrasal verbs that are used to talk about different things. Here is list of phrasal verbs for talking on the phone and for talking about health.

A phrasal verb is constructed with a:

verb + particle/preposition

... to form a different meaning from the verb alone.

Phrasal Verb	Example
to get through	I've called several times, but I don't seem to be able to get through to the manager.
to hang on/ to hold on	Could you hold on while I look at my schedule?
to put through	Could you put me through to customer service please? to speak up	Could you speak up? I can hardly hear you.
to cut off	Hi, I'm calling again because we got cut off somehow.
to build up	After being sick for a few days, I have to build up my strength again.
to put on (weight)	I have to be careful with sweets so that I don't put on weight. to throw up	I threw up twice last night. I might have the flu.
to catch up	I usually catch up on my sleep on the weekend.
to sleep in	I'd better sleep in tomorrow to catch up on my rest.

Examples:

- If you keep up the stressful work schedule, you burn out eventually.
- I'm tired, but I'm hanging in there.

Learning Points

Zero Conditional

You use the zero conditional when the result of the condition is always true, like a scientific fact.

The Zero Conditional

Notice that you are thinking about a result that is always true for this condition. You are not thinking about the future or the past, or even the present.

Example: If you don't eat, you will get hungry.

You use the Present Simple tense to write the zero conditional. The important thing about the zero conditional is that the condition always has the same result.

Condition	Result
If I keep this phone call short,	you get back to your work more quickly.
If you are stressed all the time,	you burn out eventually.
When people get to sleep in,	they feel a lot better.

